

Peter Stringfellow

Peter Stringfellow is one of the world's most famous playboys and he currently owns the Stringfellows table-dancing clubs in London – Stringfellows Covent Garden and Stringfellows Angels - and also a club in Paris.

Peter was born in Sheffield where he opened his first club, 'The Black Cat' in 1962. In the 80's he set his sights on London where he opened celebrity haunt Stringfellows. He is known as the man who introduced table dancing to the UK and now employs 100's of dancers for his club's 'Cabaret of Angels'.

Peter divides his time between London and Mallorca, where he has become an island favourite. A huge fan of cooking, Stringfellow appeared on a celebrity edition of "Come Dine with Me", first aired on 17th September 2008 alongside fellow celebrities Lee Ryan, Michelle Heaton and Linda Barker.

With a Valentine's Day wedding on a Barbados beach in 2009, Stringfellow married his long term fiancé, Bella Wright.